

Pedal

Puddle and pedal

Puddle

One day Puddle and Pedal were playing around and Puddle splashed Pedal and they both were laughing so hard they fell down. They were in the forest and saw a mountain lion and immediately started to run but the mountain lion saw them. They were really scared and did not know where to go. The two squishmallows ran for dear life. When they were running they saw a rock that they could fit under and the mountain lion could not (they are five inches so they could fit under the rock). The mountain lion did not notice that they went under the rock so it just kept running and ran off the cliff but unluckily the mountain lion got out its claws and saved itself. Just when Puddle and Pedal thought they were safe they saw the mountain lion running after them. They ran to Pedal's house because it is closer. The mountain lion ran off never to be seen again.